

Housekeeping Guidelines for Residents

Housing Quality Standards

IMPORTANT

The Federal funding for the project you live in does not recognize California marijuana laws.

There should be no sign of drug use or production, including marijuana, in your unit.

There should be a smoke detector in each unit. Smoke detectors are hardwired in.
Dismantling or impairing the ability of a detector is unlawful.

Your unit must be kept in clean and habitable condition. The unit will fail inspection due to any of the following:

- An excess amount of garbage on countertops or floors. This includes garbage bags full of trash or recycling.
- Hallways restricted by items that would prevent easy access to rooms or the unit itself.
- Animal urine or feces not contained to a litter box or "pee pad."
- Unsanitary bathroom conditions.
- Unsanitary kitchen conditions, including dirty dishes with mold present, rotten food, or receptacles with stagnant water.
- Extremely dirty floors or carpeting, including food residue, or animal waste.
- Rodent or insect infestation.
